

Yamhill is a mid-tall soft white winter wheat released by the Oregon AES. Productive, and equal or superior to prevailing varieties in milling and baking qualities, Yamhill is intended to replace Druchamp and to some extent Gaines and Nugaines--particularly on hillsides in western Oregon. The new variety is resistant to stripe rust and lodging.